Station Website Additional Activity Related to DTV Transition - Comments

WDBJ7 has created a special section within our primary website, www.wdbj7.com, to inform viewers about the DTV conversion. We have included frequently asked questions, articles on the conversion and what it means, links to all the major government and industry websites set up to educate the public about DTV, and a form where viewers can ask questions of our general manager on any DTV issue. We have provided information and links which assist users in obtaining the converter boxes for over-the-air reception. The material on our site has been reviewed for accuracy by our technical staff. We update the information as more content becomes available and adjust our frequently asked questions as viewers submit new inquiries.
